

Andrew Irwin – TCM Treasurer

Members of College,

I believe that I am well-equipped to serve as TCM Treasurer, where I would work to be a professional and dependable leader of our college's financial governance. I am currently in my second year studying Economics, with past internship experience in Finance at CIBC. These experiences have helped me develop valuable financial, mathematical, and organizational skills to will allow me to run our College's finances as TCM Treasurer.

Also, I excel at Excel. I'd really like to make this joke at every Finance Committee meeting next year.

You can trust me to have the organized, academic, and unbiased experience to be Treasurer. Office hours will be held, spreadsheets maintained, and expenses promptly reimbursed. This should be the expectation of the Treasurer, nevertheless I hope to exceed this promise.

As an individual, I believe that I have both the approachable qualities as well as the diligent work ethic necessary to fulfill all the responsibilities of Treasurer. Finance Committee, the TCM, and SCCC projects should always be structurally accessible to all students, and I hope that my outgoing character will enable this. I hope to have the information sessions mandated by Section IV.i of the Fiscal Policy advertised from the start of Orientation week as opportunities for all students, regardless of Trinity involvement.

Increased financial transparency and understanding enables all Trinity students to be active participants in our governance and build a supportive community. I hope to provide this as Treasurer.

Met'Agona,
Make that Money,

Andrew Irwin
