

Great students of Trinity College,

I would like to thank you for your time and consideration in me. I will not be using any fancy words, rather I wanted to write this as if I was talking to you in person. I hope you have an amazing day!

As the school year of 2016-2017 slowly comes to end, lets pause for a minute and look back on the year. First years, we may all remember arriving at Trinity College on the first day of Orientation Week, greeted by the amazing upper years and Orientation leaders. We laid our first steps in the quad, at which point we were yelled at for stepping on the grass. Whether you were a commuter or on residence, the warmth and sense of welcoming was there. We took our first look of the quad, doing circles to look around the four beautiful walls that created this home. We made new friends, created memories, and experiences that will last a lifetime.

Entering first year, it made me think back to grade nine. We are younger than everyone, we have less street cred than everyone, we have less experience than everyone, and we have less knowledge than everyone. But we didn't let that hold us back from being the best year ever 2T0. We chanted louder, partied harder, and showed everyone who we are.

Extra-curricular activities have been an active part of my life. In high school, I was the Student Council President, Chairperson of the United Way, and was a member of many other clubs. I love serving on student governance, and playing a role in student activities. Upon entering Trinity College and the University of Toronto, I tried to continue being involved in extra-curricular activities. This past year, I was blessed enough to partake in such wonderful clubs; I was one of the first year reps for the TCLI (lit), a photographer for the Stephanos, one of the people that made sure you were safe at Trin Events (Sober Patrol), and I was one of the three Full Time First Year Student Representative of UofT Arts and Science Council and Standing Committee. I believe I have gained enough experience and knowledge to be your Second Year Male Head of Residence.

I look forward to doing everything to the best of my abilities to serve you and to continue making Trinity the best college at UofT.

Latin
Translate from English

English

met'agona

Edit

met'agona

Richie Kim