

Graydon Kelch - Treasurer of the TCM

The Trinity College Meeting (TCM), is a distinct and memorable part of college life. However, recent questions of financial transparency have brought to light its shortcomings. I am running to be the Treasurer of the TCM for the 2017-18 year to address these issues and make the TCM more accessible to all Trinity students.

I would collaborate with Leila to produce visual guides to Trinity's spending and how it impacts students at college. These would include a guides to our current expenditure, where funding comes from, and how to secure funding inside and outside of Trin. Furthermore, I will host office hours increasing financial transparency. On Finance Committee I would push to ensure that our expenses are clearly defined and to make sure that all students are given an equal voice when deciding on financial matters.

My experience in governance includes experience both within and outside of the Trinity community. Having worked on this year's Conversat executive and having served as Trinity's sub-Cosgrave curator, I have experience working with the student body and administration at Trinity. Working with the International Relations Society and the History Students Association has further developed my financial experience and made me familiar with non-Trinity funding opportunities.

Let's continue to work on making the Trinity College Meeting work for everyone! Should you have any questions please feel free to reach out to me at anytime over email (graydon.kelch@mail.utoronto.ca)!

Met'agona,

Graydon
