

Grace Marshall

Junior Representative to the Community Affairs Committee

Experience at U of T:

- Compliance Analyst, G20 Research Group
- Social Media Officer, CCR2P
- Design Editor, The Stephanos
- Stage Manager, TCDS and SMC Troubadours
- Intramural participant

As a first year student living on residence, I have become involved within various aspects of the Trinity College and hope to bring that experience to the Community Affairs Committee and participate in governance.

I would actively discuss such issues addressed at the CAC with my peers to bring their views to the table. If the matter of gender desegregating Welch and Whitaker is ongoing, I would advocate against such changes as I believe in having both gender segregated and desegregated spaces available. I appreciate the use of focus groups to engage with students and think that they could be useful in other instances. This speaks to the need to improve student voice and I think the representation of students could be enhanced by the creation of new forums.

I also look forward to continuing the CAC's work on making spaces more accessible for non-residence students. I am passionate about combatting sexual violence on campus and look forward to building upon and forming initiatives to educate students on consent. Additionally, it is critical to have discourse on how victims come forward. The mental health awareness efforts within Trin are impressive, but there is much more work to be done to encourage the health of members of college.

Thank you for your consideration!

Met'agona,

Grace
