

Alex McKeever – Candidate Treasurer of the TCLI

Memberinos of College,

It has been an absolute pleasure being your Opposition Leader and Prime Minister of the Lit this past year. Stirring sedition and ruling with an iron fist has certainly been fun, but the time has come to settle down for a bit and let my successors take over the debauchery. But being hopelessly in love with the Lit and simultaneously having no time and too much time on my hands, I am not ready to cut the cord quite yet. The Lit is my master and I am its humble servant. I intend to serve it well. That's why I'd like to be your treasurer.

I'm good with personal finances (if you ignore my LCBO bills) and having survived three years of EngSci, I'm at least somewhat competent with numbers (at the cost of extensive emotional damage). I'm also a capitalist pig, so you know I take money seriously.

Put your fiscal faith in me, Trinity. I didn't let you down this year and I won't let you down next year.
